KEEPERS OF THE FLAME

The "Highlights in Jazz" concert series pulls together some aging but ever-kicking legends for its latest engagement at the Pace Downtown Theatre. Octogenarian Jay McShann, who helped jumpstart Charlie Parker's ascent with his Kansas City classic, "Jumpin' the Blues," will be banging the keys. Doc Cheatham, who's 90 if you ask, blows trumpet. Also on tap: Kenny Davern, Frank Tate and Jackie Williams.

HIGHLIGHTS IN JAZZ: Pace Downtown Theater, 3 Spruce St. (212) 346-1715. A biggie in New York's longest running concert series, Thursday, bringing together pianist Jay McShann and clarinetist Kenny Davern (true giants on their respective instruments), plus trumpeter Doc Cheatham (who has a new Sockville CD, "Doc Cheatham and Jim Galloway at the Bern Jazz Festival," is a terrific sampler of his work — incredibly, Cheatham, in his 80s, is playing better than he was in the 50s).

NEW YORK AGENDA

WE HAVE IGNITION

"Keepers of the Flame," a Highlights in Jazz presentation, will feature the great Kansas City pianist Jay McShann, trumpeter Doc Cheatham, reedman Kenny Davern, bassist Frank Tate and drummer Jackie Williams, all at the Pace Downtown Theater (3 Spruce St.; [212] 346-1715). The show begins at 8 p.m.

Then there's a jazz concert that's part of Jack Kleinsinger's long-running "Highlights in Jazz" concert series. It recently moved to the Pace Downtown Theatre (3 Spruce St., 346-1715), which is not fancy, but, oh, that music! On Thursday, January 10th, the show will be called "Keepers of the Flame" and will feature Jay McShann, Doc Cheatham, Kenny Davern, Frank Tate and Jackie Williams, plus a surprise guest. It's sure to lift your spirits.
The Muskogee, Okla.-born blues pianist who's led small and large bands since the late '30s, Jay McShann (at left), will join two other great jazzmen, trumpeter Doc Cheatham and soprano sax/clarinet player Kenny Davern, for what's surely to be a stupendous concert—"Keepers of the Flame," another of Jack Kleinsinger's Highlights in Jazz. 8 p.m. Tickets: $12, $18 $50 students. The Pace Downtown Theater, 3 Spruce St. (bet. Park Row & Gold Street) in Manhattan. 212-346-1715.
