

What's happening

published biweekly by the division of student activities

It's fall! Even in Florida, it's fall! No, the frost isn't on the pumpkin. The trees are not a glorious riot of autumnal hues, but it's fall ne'ertheless. Schools everywhere have opened their doors to a new year of learning, Halloween is fast approaching--and it's United Way time again.

Maybe fall and the United Way campaign are not exactly synonymous in your mind. To a great extent they are in mine. Having worked three college summer vacations and through a campaign in a United Way office and having seen firsthand the great accomplishments this organization does, United Way is very much a part of this time of year to me.

What is the United Way? What does it do? Why should I contribute? These are questions I've heard students ask.

United Way of Jacksonville serves as the fund-raising organization for 48 agencies involved in health and helping youth, child care and family service. Without a United Way each of these agencies would have to conduct its own fund-raising drive, adding considerable administrative expense and cutting down on the amount of your money which could go for serving human needs.

Do you know what agencies are served by United Way? The list includes some of the most helpful and worthwhile people around--like the Boy's Club, Goodwill Industries, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, Boy and Girl Scouts, Family Consultation Service, Suicide Prevention Center, the Red Cross, the USO, and many, many more. A pretty worthwhile way to invest your money--an investment in humanity.

The United Way campaign is now in progress on the UNF campus. On October 12, Miss America of 1972, Laurie Lee Schaefer, was our guest, and she spoke to a large crowd in the courtyard, urging our support. Faculty, staff and student assistants have already received pledge cards so that payroll deductions can be made for them.

For you students not working for the university, donations and pledges can be made through any of the student organizations on campus. These organizations are competing for the highest dollar amount pledged, so support the group of your choice. Staff and faculty members can also make their pledges through an organization and that organization will be given credit for the contribution.

Last year at United Way time, even though the University had just opened its doors, a considerable amount was raised by its newly formed community. Now with a successful year behind us--a year of expansion and development--we feel that we should have a very successful response to the appeal. We hope that we can feel justly proud when the United Way says, "Thanks to you, it's working."

A University of North Florida student is one of the top Army ROTC cadets in the combined UNF University of Florida ROTC program.

John O. Hughes was honored during ceremonies on the UNF campus Thursday and was presented three awards. He received the Distinguished Military Student Award based on his academic performance, military science and summer camp performance, and his overall potential as a prospective Army officer.

Presenting the award was Col. Charles D. McKeown, professor of Military science and head of the combined Army ROTC program on both campuses. Attending the ceremony were UNF President, Thomas G. Carpenter, UNF Vice President, Roy L. Lassiter Jr., and Hughes' fellow cadets.

One of only 18 cadets selected for the award and the only one at UNF, Hughes has the opportunity to apply for a direct commission as a second lieutenant in the Regular Army upon graduation in June, 1974. He hopes to qualify for Army aviation when commissioned.

Re-Cycling Project Needs Pick-Up

The Sawmill Slough Conservation Club would like to urge all students and faculty to help make their re-cycling project a success. Please drop your empty aluminum cans in the re-cycling cans provided.

Do food prices have your stomach in an uproar? Rick McGinnis, Division of Family Services, will be at UNF, Thursday October 25th, to discuss nutrition and the Federal Food Stamp Program. Bring your questions on diets, health foods and budget cooking. Discover whether you or your friends qualify for the Food Stamp Program. The place--Room 1381 at Noon.

Please remember that your health facility is open day and evening during class hours. We offer first aid for the sick, assistance with health problems by counseling or referral or just an understanding ear. Drop by and look us over.

Students in the Journalistic Writing Class are conducting a Reader's Survey on campus during the week of October 15. Mr. Bill Roach, associate professor of communications, requests that all students approached for this survey give consideration to the necessity for forthright answers. This survey will be used for a class project and possibly in conjunction with a national survey.

Up From The Gutter

This quarter I will keep up with my readings. This quarter I will start my research papers early. This quarter I will study all along rather than cram the night before exams. This quarter will be different.

And it is. I already suffer with pre-final blues. My reading is three chapters behind in each course and my cognitive powers just suffered an energy crisis. Mental Pollution just clogged my brain and I am "backed-up" so badly that it is all I can do to make it through the funnies each morning. I've even lost my magnifying glass.

My heart cries out in agony for those who suffer in the third world but surely I should be helped first. My best friend wants the loan paid back that I borrowed to buy the books in which I am behind in my reading.

This quarter is different. Cause this quarter I've made up my mind that next quarter will be different. Next quarter I won't wait to get started and next quarter I'll keep up with my reading and next quarter...

First Quarter of UNF finds many new faces, new positions and other major changes and "What's Happening" is covering many of these:

NEW STUDENT ACTIVITIES DIRECTOR

Mr. Richard H. Reisinger (M.P.H.) was appointed to a new position in August 1973, he is now Director of Student Activities at UNF. Mr. Reisinger was already a member of the UNF faculty holding the position of Assistant Professor of Education and Director of Intramurals. His new position has now expanded to encompass all activities for students including Intramurals.

Mr. Reisinger is a native of Florida, attended schools in the Miami area and received his Master's Degree in Physical Education from the University of Florida. He has instructed on all levels of education from the public school system to the university. He has worked with programs for the state and federal government in the areas of Physical Education and self-defense. His academic background has covered Peace Corps training and many areas of music and theatre groups. He has interest in a variety of programs and he holds membership in numerous education and cultural organizations.

In a recent interview, Mr. Reisinger stated, "I feel that the obligation of the Student Activities Office should include all student activities, such as clubs and organizations, concerts, plays, films and literary works as well as sports events, for each is of great importance. It should also be understood that this Office's main effort should be guided by the needs of the student and it should always put forth constructive and broad programs. The thrust of these programs should be towards activities which will complement the University's continuing effort for the student's cultural enrichment."

The "What's Happening" staff welcomes our new Director and hopes that all students will seek his office so you too can express your welcome.

UNF Art Graduate Wins Photo Contest

Mrs. Duncan Rosborough Sawyer, who graduated from UNF in June 1973, as an art major with photography as her area of concentration, was just adjudged first place winner in the black and white category photo contest sponsored by the city.

UNF Professor Receives Honors

William Brown, associate professor of Music, received the honor of return engagements in San Francisco and Detroit this past August. He sang the lead role in Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte" with the Bear Valley Music Festival in San Francisco, and the role of Faust with the Detroit Symphony. As a result of the latter, he will make his debut recording with Columbia Records during the current season.

The Psychology Club Membership Drive

The Psychology Club of the University of North Florida extols the development of the mind and the exposure of psychology students to the latest techniques in this growing field of study.

The Club's dedication to these principles is declared in its constitution which, summed up briefly, states, (1) bettering the student's understanding of psychology, (2) serving as a united voice, (3) offering service to the school and community, (4) stimulating awareness of the benefits and contributions psychology offers our modern society --in the form of trips, speakers, and audio visual media, and (5) providing a regular forum for exchanging ideas between students, staff and faculty in an informal atmosphere.

But the Psychology Club is more than the objectives it formally declares and ratifies: it is the continued efforts of members and officers to practice these ideals. Nothing worthwhile is achieved without effort. With your efforts as a member, the Psychology Club will contribute to an even higher goal of unifying and motivating the student body at the University of North Florida.

Circle K is the largest collegiate organization in North America, with nearly 800 clubs throughout the United States and Canada. However, it is not the size of our organization that gives us our identity or provides us with our primary source of pride and satisfaction in Circle K; rather our reason for existence is found in what we do and what we stand for.

Circle K does not have any one service activity that is our particular bag. Each member is encouraged to analyze the local situation to determine how it can serve most effectively. However, there are certain types of projects which Circle K tend to gravitate:

Working with disadvantaged youth involving a variety of group activities.

Working with the Key Clubs in the High Schools and Kiwanians in the Business world through service and social activities.

Working to help stop pollution of our water and the air we breathe.

Circle K is based on the goal of being "a total involvement organization." This means a balanced combination of three very important factors: 1) Significant Service, 2) Membership, 3) Social Activities.

If you are interested in joining this group, contact the Office of Student Activities.

Transcendental Meditators! To be able to think more clearly and get better grades, to speak more effectively, to act with more energy and creativity, to enjoy life more.. these are some of the results which students at UNF are experiencing from spending 15 to 20 minutes twice a day practicing the simple mental technique of transcendental meditation. For more information, call 389-0853.

The Sawmill Slough Conservation Club would like to invite anyone interested in ecology, environmental quality, camping, canoeing and just plain fun to join us. Club meetings are held on the first and third Thursday of every month at 12:00 in Room 2311.

The club is planning a camping trip to the Ocala National Forest with canoe trips to Juniper and Alexander Springs on the 19th, 20th and 21st of this month. Another camping trip is being planned for mid-November to the Okeefenokee Swamp from east to west and canoers will spend the night in the swamp. Several other trips are being planned for the coming months.

Sawmill Slough members would like to take this opportunity to thank all the students who are participating in the re-cycling program and to urge those who are not to form a habit now that will benefit not only the club, but the school, the environment and yourself. We would also like to offer our special thanks to those students who have brought cans from off campus.

Information regarding club activities and memberships can be obtained from Gerry Ray in the Health Office or from any Sawmill Slough club member.

Horse-Person's Club

If you are interested in this unique form of club, please contact J. Huebner or L. Walker in Room 1381 at UNF or call Dr. Walker at 646-2613.

Just a hint to what a Horse-Person would be interested in, possibilities could be: any phase of professional or amateur horsemanship, veterinary skills, resource people or a riding club. If you would like to meet, contact Dr. Walker and make plans. She suggests you might wear your boots but leave your horse at home.

The UNF Colony of Alpha Phi Omega will hold weekly meetings throughout the quarter. Meetings will be held on the first three Tuesdays of the month at 12:00 Noon in Room 1301, Building 003. On the fourth Tuesday of the month (October 23) the meeting will be at 7:30 P.M. in Room 2115, Building 001.

All men on the campus are invited to join APO. We are service oriented but we have several social activities planned, so don't think of us as being an "all work" organization. Some of our upcoming projects include the United Way Campaign and the sale of "Spook Insurance" at Halloween.

If you need additional information about the fraternity feel free to drop in on one of our weekly meetings or leave your name and phone number in our P.O. Box in Student Activities.

Are you tired of hearing people talk about student apathy? Tired of saying there is nothing to do at UNF? If so, then do something about it--join one (or more) of the more than a dozen clubs that have been formed on campus. There is something for almost everyone, everything from a fraternity, political and business clubs, to conservation clubs--and many more. You say that you don't have the time or there is no club that interests you? Most clubs require very little time (an hour or two per week at most), and while most of them do require dues, it is nothing that the average student cannot afford. If no clubs interest you, then start a club. Student Activities will be glad to assist you. Finally you may ask, "What good are clubs?" Clubs offer a person an opportunity to increase his awareness, to develop new friendships, and to become an active and vital member of the UNF community.

SPORTS WEEK

Sports Week, October 29 - November 2, has been devised so that those desiring limited activity during their lunch break will have an opportunity to participate in organized play. The activities which will be offered are volleyball, horseshoes, archery, and table tennis. Tournaments in volleyball, table tennis, and horseshoes will run through the week with competition each day. It is the intent that these activities will offer limited but relaxing physical activity during a lunch break.

Sign-up sheets will be posted in each department for those students, faculty members, and staff members wishing to participate. Each participant will represent either his/her respective club or organization or his/her respective department. Points will be awarded to each first, second, and third places in each event to be tallied at the end. The department, club, or organization with the largest number of points will be given an award signifying their superior performances. Sign-up will be from October 15 through October 24. Do It!

Archery, "the sport of Kings," is coming to UNF. The main objective of the club will simply be to enjoy and learn something about archery. For the beginner, we'll help you get started; for the pro, you can help us to get organized.

During the course of the year we actually hope to compete on an intercollegiate level as a team against the likes of the University of Florida, Florida Tech and Stetson University. In May, if we're good enough, we can compete in the United States Intercollegiate National Championships against the country's best.

We're looking for hunters, however, as well as target shooters, and we may add that women often surpass men in shooting abilities. If you don't have equipment, use ours; but whatever you do, join us. The first meeting will be held Thursday, October 18, at 12:00 Noon, Building 003 Room 2241. Come out and join us for the fun of it. If you are unable to attend the meeting, please inquire about us at Student Activities.

Intramurals needs officials for flag football and volleyball. Intramurals will help you develop officiating skills, however you must possess the basic knowledge. Intramurals will pay you $2.00 per game. If you are interested please sign up at Student Activities. WE NEED YOU TODAY!

This public document was promulgated to inform students about Student Activities at UNF at an estimated cost of $.067 per copy.

A new 6-man Flag Football league has just started. The games will be played on the Athletic Field on Tuesdays and Thursdays during the activity period (12:05 P.M.)
