Issue Date January 10, 2007

First Day City New York, NY

Artist Paul Davis New York, NY

Designer Ethel Kessler Bethesda, MD

Art Director Ethel Kessler

Typographer Ethel Kessler

Modeler Joseph Sheeran

Manufacturing Proces Offset/Microprint "USPS"

Printer Ashton Potter (USA) Ltd. (APU)

Engraver N/A Colors Black, Cyan, Magenta, Yellow, Yellow (PMS 115), Blue (PMS 550)

Image Area (w x h) 0.84 x 1.42 in. 31.336 x 36.068 mm

Format Pane of 20 (1 design)

Plate Numbers "P" followed by six single digits

Marginal Markings

© 2006 USPS, plate position diagram, header "BLACK HERITAGE" "30th IN A SERIES," price, plate numbers, biographical text, barcodes, proprietary notice, USPS logo

Ella Fitzgerald

As a child, Ella Fitzgerald made people laugh when she told them she was going to be famous. She who laughs last, of course, laughs best: Fitzgerald became a supremely talented figure on the American music scene of the 20th century.

Fitzgerald was born on April 25, 1917, in Newport News, Virginia, and was still very young when she moved with her mother to Yonkers, New York. In 1932, after her mother died, Ella went to live with her aunt in Harlem. By the time she was 16, she was on her own, dancing on the street for tips. Intending to show off her dancing skill, she entered an amateur competition at the Apollo Theater in November of 1934. At the last minute, she decided to sing instead, and was pronounced the winner. Not long after, at the Harlem Opera House, she won another talent competition. Her success as an amateur brought Fitzgerald to the attention of bandleader and drummer Chick Webb, who hired her to sing with his orchestra.

From such humble beginnings, great careers can be made. Over the years, Fitzgerald won 13 Grammy Awards and many other honors, including the National Medal of Arts, presented to her in 1987 by President Ronald Reagan. She was one of five artists awarded Kennedy Center Honors in 1979. In 1989, the Society of Singers created an award for lifetime achievement, called it the "Ella," and made her its first recipient.

By the time of her death in 1996, Fitzgerald had long been known as "the first lady of song."

Ella Fitzgerald® licensed by CMG Worldwide, Indianapolis, IN.

© 2007 United States Postal Service (0701)

Ella Fitzgerald

ONE OF THE MOST distinctive and instantly recognizable singers of both jazz and popular tunes, Ella Fitzgerald was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility, combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her a favorite of fans, songwriters, and other singers. In a recording career spanning decades, there were countless highlights.

In 1938, with bandleader Chick Webb and his orchestra, Fitzgerald had a number one hit record with "A-Tisket, A-Tasket," a novelty song she co-wrote with Van Alexander, based on a child's rope-skipping rhyme. In this early phase of her career, Fitzgerald showed her mastery of swing music.

The song "Flying Home," recorded in the autumn of 1945, is widely considered a masterpiece of scat singing—the vocalizing of nonsense syllables, often as if the singer were an instrumental soloist. Ella's scat reflected her growing interest in bebop, a jazz style that improvised around chords and harmony, as well as melody. Her recordings of songs like "Lady Be Good" and "How High the Moon" consolidated Fitzgerald's reputation as a jazz singer; the latter title became one of her signature tunes.

An early highlight among Fitzgerald's several dozen albums was Ella Sings Gershwin, recorded in 1950. The later George and Ira Gershwin Songbook is cited by many as one of Fitzgerald's most special collections; her Duke Ellington Songbook also has many admirers. Her collaborations on record with Louis Armstrong, including Ella and Louis, were among her most popular efforts.

Ella Fitzgerald continued to perform until only a few years before her death, when worsening health compelled her reluctant retirement. She died at her home in Beverly Hills, California, on June 15, 1996. Fans and colleagues alike mourned the passing of this beloved singer, of whom Ira Gershwin once remarked, "I never knew how good our songs were until I heard Ella Fitzgerald sing them."

background, top left, and bottom right: Ella Fitzgerald Collection, Archives Center, National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution; bottom left: Yale Collection of American Literature, Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library, used with permission of the Carl Van Vechten Trust; top right: Bob Parent/Time Life Pictures/Getty Images; Ella Fitzgerald @ licensed by CMG Worldwide, Indianapolis, IN.

Stamps printed by Ashton Potter (USA) Ltd. (APU) / No. 782 in a series / January 10, 2007 / Printed in U.S.A. / © 2007 United States Postal Service

P11111

BLACK HERITAGE 30th IN A SERIES

P111

PLATE POSITION

P11111

© 2006

USPS

P111

.39

x 20

$7.80

Ella Fitzgerald (1917-1996)

was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility, combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917 - 1996)

was widely known as

"the first lady of song."

Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility.

combined with her gift

for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917 - 1996)

was widely known as

"the first lady of song."

Her extraordinary vocal

range and flexibility,

combined with her gift

for pitch, rhythmic sense,

and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917-1996) was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense. and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917 - 1996)

was widely known as

"the first lady of song."

Her extraordinary vocal

range and flexibility.

combined with her gift

for pitch, rhythmic sense,

and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917 - 1996)

was widely known as

"the first lady of song."

Her extraordinary vocal

range and flexibility,

combined with her gift

for pitch, rhythmic sense.

and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917 - 1996)

was widely known as

Her extraordinary vocal

range and flexibility,

combined with her gift

for pitch, rhythmic sense,

and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917-1996) was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility, combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917-1996)

was widely known as

"the first lady of song."

Her extraordinary vocal

range and flexibility.

combined with her gift

for pitch, rhythmic sense,

and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917 - 1996)

and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald (1917 - 1996)

was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense. and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917-1996)

was widely known as

"the first lady of song."

Her extraordinary vocal

range and flexibility,

combined with her gift

for pitch, rhythmic sense,

and flawless diction, made

her one of America's

most distinctive singers

of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald (1917 - 1996)

was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald

(1917 - 1996)was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald (1917-1996)

was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch mythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald (1917 - 1996)

was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tune

Ella Fitzgerald (1917-1996) was widely known as the first lady of song Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

range and flexibility.

was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense. and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes

(1917 - 1996)

Ella Fitzgerald

Ella Fitzgerald (1917-1996) was widely known as "the first lady of song."

"the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility. combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes.

Ella Fitzgerald (1917 - 1996)was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility, combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense.

was widely known as "the first lady of song." Her extraordinary vocal range and flexibility, combined with her gift for pitch, rhythmic sense, and flawless diction, made her one of America's

FITZGERALD

COMMEMORATIVE STAMP

FIRST DAY OF ISSUE CEREMONY

January 10, 2007, 11:00 a.m. The Allen Room, Frederick P. Rose Hall Home of Jazz at Lincoln Center New York, NY

PRELUDE

JUILLIARD JAZZ ENSEMBLE The Juilliard School

MASTER OF CEREMONIES

NANCY WILSON Song Stylist

NATIONAL ANTHEM/LIFT EVERY VOICE

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY CHORUS Peter Frost, Director of Music

INVOCATION

REV. DR. CALVIN O. BUTTS, III Abyssinian Baptist Church, New York, NY

WELCOME KATHERINE E. BROWN Executive Director, Jazz at Lincoln Center

MUSICAL TRIBUTE TO ELLA

ENNIFER SANON
ONATHAN BATISTE
HILLIP KING
OE SAYLOR

OFFICIAL STAMP DEDICATION

Vocalist

Piano

Drums

Bass

DELORES KILLETTE Vice President and Consumer Advocate, United States Postal Service

REMARKS

PHOEBE JACOBS Executive Vice President, Louis Armstrong Educational Foundation

RAY BROWN, JR. Son of Ella Fitzgerald

CLOSING NANCY WILSON

SPECIAL GUESTS

VINNIE MALLOY New York District Manager/Postmaster, United States Postal Service

BARBARA A. MCKINZIE International President, Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc.

PAUL DAVIS Artist

SYLVIA HARRIS Member, Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee

JESSICA HELSAND Member, Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee

MARUCHI SANTANA Member, Citizens' Stamp Advisory Committee FITZGERALD COMMEMORATIVE STAMP

FITZGERALD

The U.S. Postal Service honors Ella Fitzgerald, jazz singer, and Grammy Award winner with the 30th stamp in its popular Black Heritage commemorative stamp series.

ART DIRECTOR ETHEL KESSLER lauds the stamp portrait of Fitzgerald by illustrator Paul Davis of New York, for the way it captures the joy and excitement of Fitzgerald's music.

BORN APRIL 25, 1917, IN NEWPORT NEWS, VA, Fitzgerald was still very young when she moved with her mother to Yonkers, NY. From an early age, she loved to sing and dance. Although charmed by her performances, people laughed when she told them she was going to be famous. In 1932, after her mother died, she went to live with her aunt in Harlem. By the time she was 16, she was on her own, dancing on the street for tips. In November 1934, Fitzgerald entered an amateur competition at the historic Apollo Theater to show off her dancing skills. At the last minute, she decided to sing instead and was named the winner. Not long after that, at the Harlem Opera House, she won another talent competition.

OVER THE YEARS, Fitzgerald won 13 Grammy Awards and many other honors, including the National Medal of Arts, presented to her in 1987 by President Ronald Reagan. She was one of five artists awarded Kennedy Center Honors in 1979. In 1989, the Society of Singers created an award for lifetime achievement, called it the "Ella," and made her its first recipient.

MANY REMEMBER FITZGERALD as one of America's most distinctive singers of jazz and popular tunes and widely known as "The First Lady of Song."

Photograph: Ella Fitzgerald Collection, Archives Center, National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution.

