UNIVERSITY BOOKSTORE OPENS ON CAMPUS

The University bookstore has outgrown its old title, Mini-bookstore, and plans a grand opening of its larger facilities on campus. The colorful, two-level bookstore will celebrate its opening Monday, (Sept. 11) at its new location on the first floor of the library building.

Text books, art supplies, notebooks, and all the necessary study tools are available for UNF students. Also included in its stock are paperback books, stationery, greeting cards and novelty items such as University mugs, T-shirts, and decals.

UNF ARTIST EXHIBITS

Kenneth McMillan, an assistant professor of fine arts, barely arrived on the staff before he found his work in demand. Mr. McMillan was invited to exhibit his ceramic creations at the Coastal States Artists/Craftsmen Second Invitational Crafts Exhibition at the Jacksonville Art Museum. After a preview for invited guests last night, the exhibition opened today for the general public and will continue through Sept. 30.

On display are McMillan's "Mouth-Chin," stoneware, "Baby Queen," Raku plate, "Baby Faces with Handles," stoneware, "Gay" stoneware and walnut sculpture. He's one of 39 craftsmen from Virginia to Texas with works on display. Mr. McMillan, a graduate of the University of Mississippi and the Cranbrook Academy of Art, will teach ceramics and crafts and this fall is scheduled for one of UNF's exciting Venture Studies courses, Experiences in Art, ART 960.

REGISTRATION
INFO

Registration tends to be routinized chaos even at the oldest, most established institutions, and UNF's first time around may be a little moreso. Thus, Ms. Betty Crippen, University registrar, hopes everyone on the staff will pitch in to guide students who call or drop by. FIRST--Registration is to commence Monday at 1 p.m. at our old home--The FLORIDA STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING. SECOND--Detailed questions, especially about academic credentials should be referred to the Registrar's Office, Telephone No. 641-2550. THIRD--Here's an abbreviated version of registration procedure so you'll be able to assist callers: 1. Remind undergraduates and post-baccalaureate students to bring a copy of their degree programs. If they haven't talked with an advisor or didn't bring a copy of the degree program, tell them to go to station #10 first. 2. After moving through stations for registration students will have about a half hour wait for a computer print-out of their schedules. They may pay vehicle registration fees and have identification photos taken at this time. 3. Students will review the print-out, make corrections if necessary. 4. Fees may be paid at registration or mailed in. Deadlines for fee payment are in the University Catalog, Part One. 5. Times for registration for Fall quarter:
