1982 UNF Distinguished Faculty Award Recipient

Commencement Speaker

Dr. Smith, along with Psychology Department Chairperson Dr. Linda A. Foley, was selected to receive the 1982 Distinguished Faculty Award for 1982 on the vote of his faculty peers.

An annual award provided by the UNF Foundation, Inc., selection proves those honored to have the ability to withstand the most rigorous test of all: approval by their faculty colleagues. Honorees' academic records are distinguished in all of the areas by which faculty are evaluated: teaching, research, and service.

Dr. Jay A. Smith, Jr., chairman of the Department of Transportation and Logistics and professor of transportation and logistics, earned his B.S. at Louisiana State University, his M.S. at the University of Tennessee and both the M.B.A. and D.B.A. from the University of Maryland.

He joined the UNF faculty in 1972, previously serving as assistant director of the Transportation Institute at Southern Illinois University and on the faculty at the University of Maryland.

Dr. Smith began his service to UNF as an associate professor of transportation and logistics. He was named acting department head in 1974 and chairperson in 1976. Under his direction, the department gained recognition as the State University System's Center of Excellence in Transportation and Logistics.

In addition to extensive consulting experience with both government and private industry, Smith has been named principal or co-principal investigator for funded research projects totaling more than $670,000 in the fields of transportation, economic development, transit unions and management, and transportation education.

He has served on the Board of Regent's Committee on Enrollment Policy and the Task Force on Energy Research, as well as several key university committees.

Smith has served professionally as International President of the Transportation Research Forum, on the Transportation Research Board of the National Academy of Sciences, and editorial board of the International Journal of Civil Engineering, and as a gubernatorial appointment as one of Florida's seven members to the Multi-State Transportation Board.

During the past five years he has authored or co-authored three books or related chapters and has contributed numerous journal articles and monographs to his field.

He also completed two tours of duty with the U.S. Army during the early 1960's.

The Commencement Ceremony

The commencement ceremony as we know it today has its roots in the academic traditions and heritage passed on by European universities of the 14th century.

While the ceremony itself has been modified to conform with more modern times, the academic dress of faculty and graduates still carries the vestiges of medieval times.

The cut of the academic gown has an ancient significance. Once the symbol of rank or class, it today represents tradition and achievement. The cap, now a flat "mortar board," once was soft, full and draped. The robes reflect the everyday dress of the Middle Ages.

Today's graduates and faculty fall into three categories as far as gowns are concerned. The bachelor's degree candidate or graduate wears a robe with long, open sleeves, but without a distinctive hood. The master's degree candidate or graduate wears a robe with long, closed sleeves, the sleeves being slit near the upper part of the arm to accommodate hand movement. This candidate wears an abbreviated hood lined in satin with the colors of the degree granting institution and edged in velvet with a color which signifies the discipline in which the degree was earned.

Faculty members holding doctoral degrees wear robes with round, open sleeves, ornamented with black velvet. While doctoral robes normally are black, many have been specifically designed in various color schemes by the granting institution or by the degree recipient. The doctoral hood is larger than the master's, but the color scheme is identical to that worn by the master's candidate.

At the University of North Florida, baccalaureate degree candidates wear a modified gown, reflecting the University's colors, light blue and white. These colors also are carried on the master's hoods and are represented in the gowns worn by commencement marshalls.

A 14th century writer observed that the University of Paris was the first institution to assign distinctive costumes and colors to its four faculties. The University of North Florida's three colleges now employ colors that were prescribed by the 1895 Intercollegiate Commission as representing those disciplines and carried over to our modern day. The College of Arts and Sciences, offering the Bachelor of Arts degree, is signified by a white cap tassel. The College of Business Administration, offering the Bachelor of Business Administration degree, uses a drab, or light olive brown, tassel. The College of Education, offering the Bachelor of Arts in Education degree, uses the traditional light blue tassel. Two other UNF degree programs, Technology, offering the Bachelor of Technology, and Nursing, offering the Bachelor of Science in Nursing, have orange and apricot cap tassels, respectively. Master's degree candidates wear black tassels, with the discipline color reflected on the candidates' hoods in velvet. Most doctoral holders wear gold tassels.

The University of North Florida

The University of North Florida officially came into existence with legislation passed by the 1965 Florida Legislature and opened in October 1972, offering programs at the junior, senior, and beginning graduate levels.

One of the nine institutions of the State University System of Florida, UNF received its accreditation from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in December 1974 at both the undergraduate and graduate levels simultaneously. That accreditation action by the SACS was reevaluated in 1979, resulting in reaccreditation for a ten year period.

The College of Business Administration has been accorded accreditation by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business at the undergraduate level, the first upper-level program to be so honored. The College recently was reaccredited at the undergraduate level and granted approval also at the Master's level by AACSB.

Within the College of Business Administration, the Department of Transportation and Logistics was designated as one of the first five State University System "Programs of Distinction," and later, as a "Center of Excellence," a direct result of the Florida Legislature's emphasis on programs to serve the needs of the state.

Totally resolved to the ideal of equal opportunity, the University enrolls and employs qualified persons regardless of race, creed, sex, age, physical limitation, or natural origin.

This public document was printed at a cost of $305.60, or 13 cents per copy, to provide a listing of Summer 1982 graduates from UNF.
