The Commencement Ceremony

The commencement ceremony as we know it today has its roots in the academic traditions and heritage passed on by European universities of the 14th century.

While the ceremony itself has been modified to conform with more modern times, the academic dress of faculty and graduates still carries the vestiges of medieval times.

The cut of the academic gown has an ancient significance. Once the symbol of rank or class, it today represents tradition and achievement. The cap, now a flat "mortar board," once was soft, full and draped. The robes reflect the everyday dress of the Middle Ages.

Today's graduates and faculty fall into three categories as far as gowns are concerned. The bachelor's degree candidate or graduate wears a robe with long, open sleeves, but without a distinctive hood. The master's degree candidate or graduate wears a robe with long, closed sleeves, the sleeves being slit near the upper part of the arm to accommodate hand movement. This candidate wears an abbreviated hood lined in satin with the colors of the degree granting institution and edged in velvet with a color which signifies the discipline in which the degree was earned.

Faculty members holding doctoral degrees wear robes with round, open sleeves, ornamented with black velvet. While doctoral robes normally are black, many have been specifically designed in various color schemes by the granting institution or by the degree recipient. The doctoral hood is larger than the master's, but the color scheme is identical to that worn by the master's candidate.

At the University of North Florida, baccalaureate degree candidates wear a modified gown, reflecting the University's colors, light blue and white. These colors also are carried on the master's hoods and are represented in the gowns worn by commencement marshals.

A 14th century writer observed that the University of Paris was the first institution to assign distinctive costumes and colors to its four faculties. The University of North Florida's three colleges now employ colors that were prescribed by the 1895 Intercollegiate Commission as representing those disciplines and carried over to our modern day. The College of Arts and Sciences, offering the Bachelor of Arts degree, is signified by a white cap tassel. The College of Business Administration, offering the Bachelor of Business Administration degree, uses a drab, or light olive brown, tassel. The College of Education, offering the Bachelor of Arts in Education degree, uses the traditional light blue tassel. Two other UNF degree programs, Technology, offering the Bachelor of Technology, and Nursing, offering the Bachelor of Science in Nursing, have orange and apricot cap tassels, respectively. Master's degree candidates wear black tassels, with the discipline color reflected on the candidates' hoods in velvet. Most doctoral holders wear gold tassels.

The University of North Florida

The University of North Florida is one of nine Florida public universities making up the State University System. It offers bachelor's, master's and, in cooperation with other institutions in the region, a steadily growing number of doctoral degrees. The University came into existence with legislation passed by the 1965 Florida Legislature and opened in October 1972. In July, UNF was authorized to plan a lower division scheduled to be offered in Fall 1984.

UNF received its accreditation from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools in December 1974 at both the undergraduate and graduate levels simultaneously. That accreditation action by the SACS was re-evaluated in 1979, resulting in reaccreditation for a ten year period.

The College of Business Administration has been accorded accreditation by the American Assembly of Collegiate Schools of Business at the undergraduate level, the first upper-level program to be so honored. The College recently was reaccredited at the undergraduate level and granted approval also at the Master's level by AACSB.

Within the College of Business Administration, the Department of Transportation and Logistics was designated as one of the first five State University System "Programs of Distinction," and later, as a "Center of Excellence," a direct result of the Florida Legislature's emphasis on programs to serve the needs of the state.

Totally resolved to the ideal of equal opportunity, the University enrolls and employs qualified persons regardless of race, creed, sex, age, physical limitation, or natural origin.

The Jacksonville Light Infantry Guard

The Jacksonville Light Infantry Color Guard was established by the University's Army ROTC detachment and is composed of ROTC cadets enrolled in that program. Formation of the color guard became a reality, after several years of planning and discussion, with the appropriation of funds for authentic uniforms and weapons by the UNF Student Government Association.

The color guard commemorates the Jacksonville Light Infantry Company, formed in April 1857. During the Civil War, this company saw action as part of Confederate forces' Company "A", 3rd Florida Infantry. It fought in the battles of Chattanooga, Perryville during the Kentucky campaign, and, under the command of General Braxton Bragg, CSA, the battles of Murfreesborough, Chickamauga, Missionary Ridge, the Mississippi campaign, and the battle of Atlanta against General Sherman. The JLI was disestablished in April 1865.

The company was reactivated in 1880 to assist with the Mill Riot and, at that time, established its distinctive uniforms.

In 1898, the JLI volunteered for service during the Spanish-American War, but saw no action.

During World War I, the JLI saw overseas action as a company of the 1st Separate Battalion against Imperial German forces. Mustered out in 1918, it was never reformed.

The JLI color guard will represent UNF in a variety of community events and ceremonies.

This public document was printed at a cost of $259.00, or 17 cents per copy, to provide a listing of UNF's Fall 1983 graduates. 12/14/83
