THE VETS

Big-Band Alumni

Mental alumni of the Duke Ellington and Count Basie orchestras will appear in concert next Thursday at 8 p.m. at New York University's Loeb Student Center, 566 La Guardia Place. The program is part of a "Highlights in Jazz" series. The musicians taking part will be Joe Newman, Frank Wess, Benny Powell, Butch Miles, Brit Woodman, Norris Turney, Victor Gaskin and Eddie Barefield. Tickets are $8.50 ($6.50 for students.) Information: 989-2027.
A classic alumni reunion

BIGGER IS not necessarily better, as Jack Dempsey once demonstrated to Jess Willard, but when the Duke Ellington and Count Basie bands performed together in a recording studio a quarter of a century ago, their collective prodigious sound was classic, as evidenced by "First Time" (Embassy). Jack Kleinsinger has something smaller, but nonetheless classic, in mind: a nine-piece band composed of Ellington and Basie alumni.

"We've done many Basie alumni shows and a number of Ellington alumni shows," said Kleinsinger, who produces the Highlights in Jazz series. "And I felt that, instead of separate units, we could make a band of alumni from both this time. I think it's a nice formula."

At 8 tomorrow evening, Kleinsinger's shved-down version of Ellington meets Basie will commence at the New York University Loeb Student Center, 566 LaGuardia Pl. at Washington Square South (tickets $8.50, $6.50 for students).

The ex-Basieites will be trumpeter Joe Newman, trombonist Benny Powell, tenor saxophonist Seldon Powell (who also played with Ellington's band) and drummer Butch Miles. On the Ellington side will be alto saxophonist/clarinetist Norris Turney, trombonist Britt Woodman, tenor saxophonist Eddie Barefield and bassist Victor Gaskin.

"Our surprise guest will be a pianist," Kleinsinger said.

The program, of course, will be representative of the material those alumni performed with their late leaders.

DISCIPLES OF JAZZ

Disciples of two of the best jazz band leaders battle it out head to head in "The Basieites Meet the Ellingtonians," a history-making event presented by Jack Kleinsinger's "Highlights in Jazz" series at New York University's Loeb Student Center on March 20.

Among the Basie alumni who will perform are Joe Newman on trumpet (pictured here); Seldon Powell on tenor sax; Benny Powell on trombone; and Butch Miles on drums.

Matching the competition on the Ellingtonian side will be Norris Turney on reeds; Britt Woodman on trombone; Eddie Barefield on tenor sax; and Victor Gaskin on bass.

Caught in the crossfire will be a surprise guest.

Concert begins at 8 p.m. Tickets, $8.50 for general admission and $6.50 for students, can be obtained at the NYU Loeb Student Center box office, 566 La Guardia Place, Washington Square South. Call (212) 598-2027.
