Dr. Edna Saffy's Endorsement of Bill Clinton

Bill Clinton came to our home in Jacksonville, Florida, November 6, 1991, for a private reception. As we shared the Arabic bread of our people, he noticed the book, Palace Walks (by Naguib Mahfouz, winner of the Nobel Prize for Literature, 1988) which lay on my coffee table. He spoke of his pleasure in reading it and the other books by Mahfouz.

Bill Clinton's interest in our people and in our customs won my confidence. I have known him over a decade, and I feel he will be a President we can trust.

President Jimmy Carter has assured Palestinian leaders that "Bill Clinton will be even-handed on the issue of Middle East peace" (August 10, 1992, Midland Mirror). I agree with President Carter.

I trust and support Bill Clinton for President.
