High-flying 'Bird'

By LEE JESKE

JAZZ fans to Clint Eastwood: "Go ahead, make our season."
The fall's most anxiously awaited jazz event isn't taking place in a club or concert hall. It's the premiere of "Bird," Eastwood's screen bio of Charlie Parker (opening Sept. 30 after New York Film Festival screenings); a perfect preface to the Film Forum's first "Jazz on Screen" series (Oct. 21-Nov. 10).

And jazz will hit Broadway, as the folks who gave us "Tango Argentino" roll out "Black and Blue," a revue with singers Carrie Smith, Ruth Brown and Linda Hopkins, tap-dancers, and on-stage musicians like Claude Williams and Roland Hanna (the Minakoff, beginning Oct. 16).

A fan of jazz singing? Look out! We're talking Mel Torme (Michael's Pub, Tuesday-Oct. 8), Sarah Vaughan, Billy Eckstine, Carmen McRae, Angela Bofill, Joe Williams (the Blue Note, consecutive weeks beginning Oct. 11), Astrud Gilberto at S.O.B.'s Oct. 18-20, Mark Murphy, Susannah Union, Sept. 26). The AJO, led by John Lewis, will also be filling Cooper Union with the music of Gerald Wilson (Oct. 20) and Count Basie (Dec. 15), as well as making its first club gig (the Blue Note, Nov. 18-20). Big band fans will also want to hit Sweet Basil when the late Gil Evans' Orchestra returns to its once-a-week home base under the baton of son Miles Evans (Mondays from Oct. 10).

The long-standing "Highlights in Jazz" series at NYU's Loeb Student Center, offers a tribute to late tenor sax great Al Cohn (Sept. 22); "Plano-Playin' Women" (Oct. 15); "Dynamic Duos," including octogenarians Art Hodes and Doc Cheatham (Nov. 17) and a "Jazz/Latin Jam" (Dec. 15).

Other aging jazz vets with youthful talents due in town include Dizzy Gillespie (next week at the Blue Note), Benny Carter, Harry "Sweets" Edison, Jay McShann and an Ellington alumni outfit with Clark Terry, Jimmy Hamilton, Norris Turney and others (all at Carlos I, A Tribute to Al Cohn To Open Jazz Series

A musical tribute to the jazz saxophonist and arranger Al Cohn, who died in February at the age of 62, will open the 16th Highlights in Jazz series at the New York University Loeb Student Center, 566 La Guardia Place, on Sept. 22 at 8 P.M.

Mr. Cohn wrote the arrangements for the Broadway productions of "Raisin" and "Sophisticated Ladies" and was known for his collaborations with the jazz saxophonist Zoot Sims.

Appearing at the concert will be Mr. Cohn's son, Joe, a guitarist; Jon Faddis, a trumpet player; the trombonist Al Grey; the bassist Milt Hinton; the pianist Derek Smith; the drummer Bobby Rosengarden, and the clarinetist Lew Tabackin. Tickets are $8 ($6.50 for students). Information: 996-4999.

Tony Bennett Salute to Dorsey.

McCorkle, Shirley Horn, Betty Carter (all at Fat Tuesday's, beginning with Murphy Oct. 25-31), Helen Merrill (Village Gate, Oct. 13-15), Cassandra Wilson (Knitting Factory, Oct. 22), Nancy Wilson (Bottom Line, Sept. 25) and even Tony Bennett, who'll sing Frank Sinatra's "Tommy Dorsey hits at the American Jazz Orchestra's salute to Dorsey and Benny Goodman (Cooper

NEW YORK AGENDA

THURSDAY

Cohn, But Not Forgotten — "A Concert for Al Cohn," in honor of the late tenor sax player, kicks off the 16th season of "Highlights in Jazz" at the New York University Loeb Student Center (566 LaGuardia Pl.; 212) 995-4999). Featured players at the 8 P.M. show will include Cohn's son, Joe, on guitar, trumpeter Jon Faddis, bassist Milt Hinton, pianist Derek Smith, Bobby Rosengarden on drums, and Lew Tabackin on reeds.
To Jack
We need you.
