HIGHLIGHTS IN JAZZ: Pace Downtown Theater, 3 Spruce St. (between Park Row and Gold Street), (212) 346-1715. It's a "Houseparty Celebrating Highlights' New Home," with tenor saxist Flip Phillips (the former Woody Herman star — still a joy to hear — who doesn't get up to the Big Apple from his Florida home too often), bluesy, boisterous, singer Dakota Staton ("No Man is Gonna Change Me"), guitarist Howard Alden, pianist John Bunch, bassist Jack Lesberg and drummer Oliver Jackson, Thursday.

J's: 2581 Broadway, near 97th Street, (212) 666-3600. Judy Barnett tonight; Pete Malinverni Quartet tomorrow; Frank Kimbrough Trio, Sunday; Frank Underwood, Monday; Andy Tuck, Tuesday; Mike Renzi Trio, Wednesday; John Pizzarelli Jr. Trio, Thursday.

Jazz series picks up the Pace

AFTER 16 years at NYU, New York's longest-running jazz concert series, "Jack Kleinsinger's Highlights in Jazz," moves Thursday to Pace University's Pace Downtown Theater, 3 Spruce St.

The series, which began at the off-Broadway Theatre de Lys in 1973, focuses on swing and bebop styles presented primarily in a loose, jam session format.

Tomorrow's opener, "Houseparty," brings together saxophonist Flip Phillips, singer Dakota Staton, guitarist Howard Alden and others, with the Louie Bellson Big Band (Nov. 8), trumpeters Jon Faddis and Lew Soloff (Dec. 6), and "Keepers of the Flame," with Jay McShann, Doc Cheatham, Kenny Davern and others (Jan. 10) rounding out the first half of the schedule.

Tickets: $12 ($8.50, students). Information: (212) 347-1715. — Lee Jeske
