CONCERTS & FESTIVALS

Only someone who played with Mingus and entitled tunes with names like Ray Charles on Mars would put Messaien, Albinoni and Mingus on the same program, which is exactly what trumpeter Jack Walrath did, along with several of his own compositions, not including the aforementioned, alas, but he did hit Mucene the Genii during the September gig at New York's Merkin Hall, along with his erstwhile employer's Jump Monk and one of Messaien's seven Haiku. Don Sickler conducted the string octet, while Carter Jefferson, Michael Cochrane, Anthony Cox and Ronnie Burrage formed Walrath's overtly jazz quintet.

Louie Bellson and his Big Band play the Big Band Bash for Jack Kleinsinger's Highlights in Jazz series on the 8th at the Pace Downtown. (212 346 1715).

Not Just Jazz at Town Hall presents Roscoe Mitchell and Henry Threadgill on the 30th. (212 997 1003).

The Gene Bertoncini duo plays for the International Art of Jazz cabaret series on the 11th in Garden City. (516 632 6597).

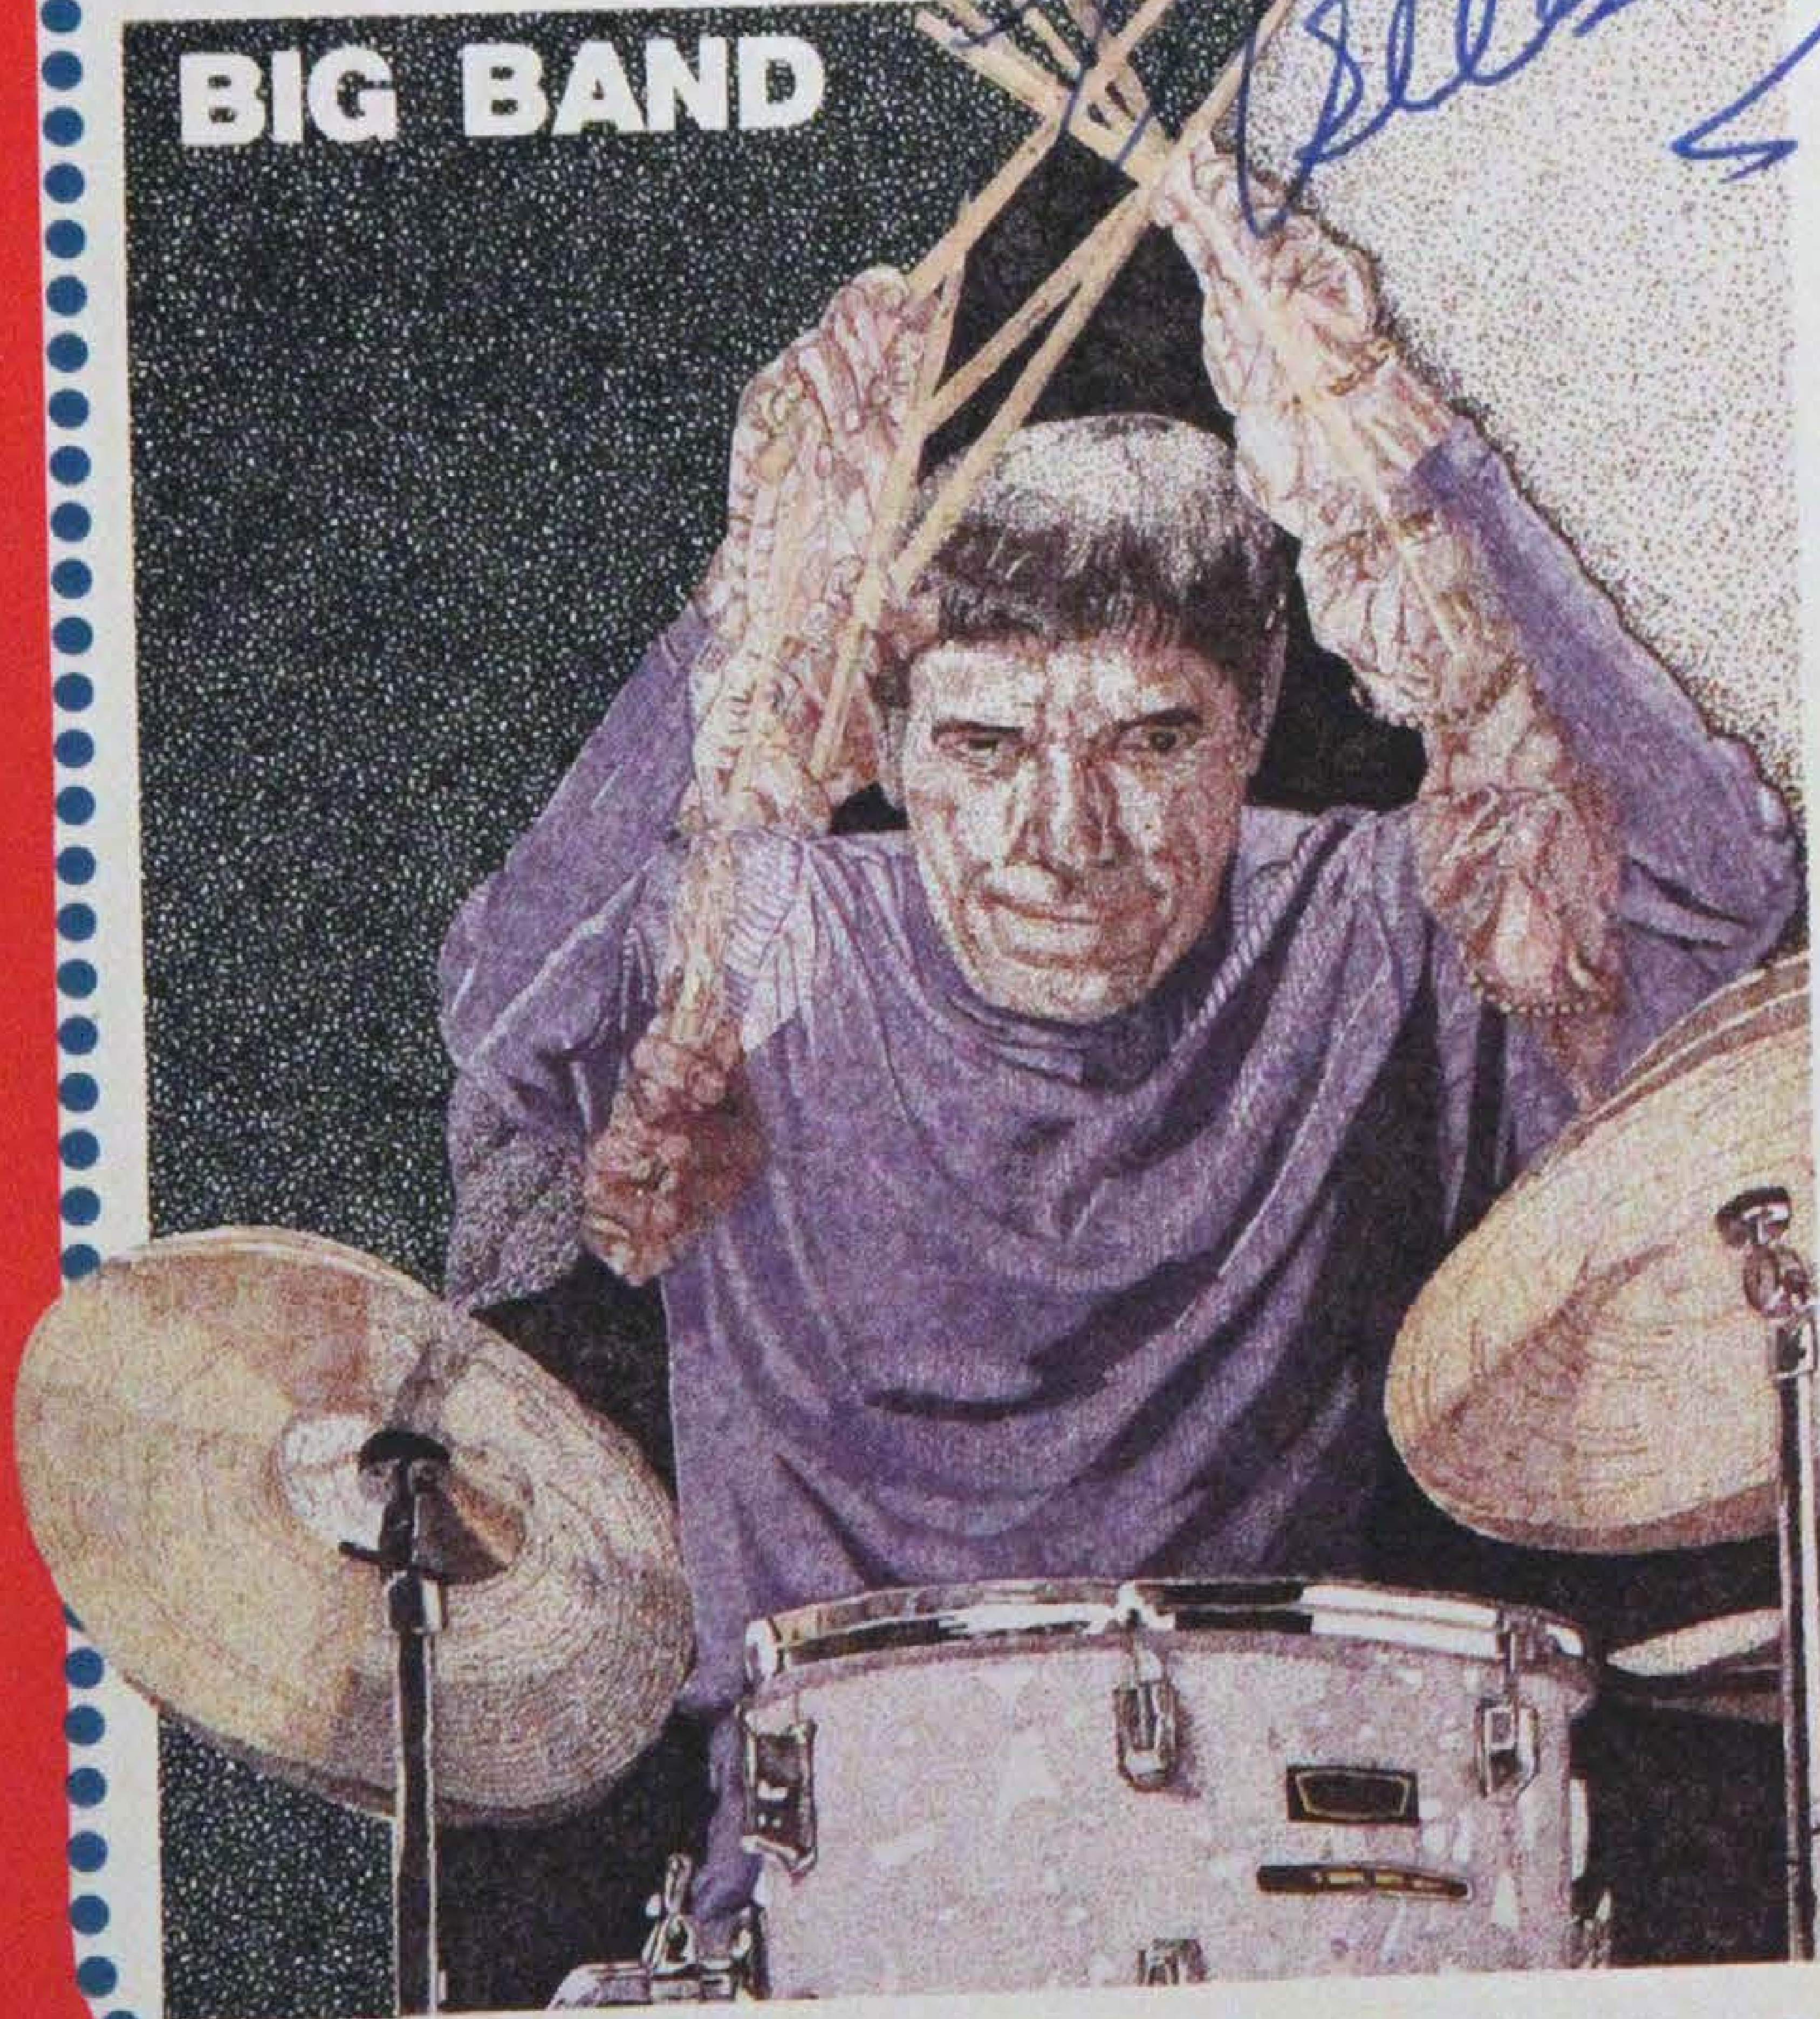

The New School's Jazz at Six series brings in Buddy Montgomery as special guest with Michael Weiss on November 2. (212 741 8058).

Frank Foster directs the Count Basie Orchestra in Columbia University's Miller Theatre on the 8th. (212 854 7799).

William Paterson College's Jazz Room series offers Bob Stewart and his First Line Band on the 4th, Dave Berger leading the WPC Repertory Ensemble in a 100th birthday celebration of Jelly Roll Morton's music on the 11th, and, on the 18th, the Harry Allen quintet. (201 595 2371).
