Highlights in Jazz at Pace

'STEVE ALLEN'S JAZZ PARTY'/PACE DOWNTOWN THEATER/MAY 7

Pianist and original Tonight Show host Steve Allen is never at a loss for a joke or a song (the Guinness Book of World Records lists him as the most prolific composer extant). But is he capable of swinging for better than an hour before a savvy crowd of mainstream mavens at the season finale of "Highlights in Jazz"? One expects he is, but should he falter, even for a bar or two, Milt Hinton, Bob Rosengarden and Tony Monte will be ready with an instant kick-start. GK.

THE WESTSIDER / MAY 14 — 20, 1992

Tony Monte

By NICHOLAS CATALANO

Completing its 19th year, making it the longest running jazz concert series in N.Y.C., "Highlights in Jazz" closed its season at Pace University's Downtown Theater last week with a show starring Steve Allen.

The series has been running concerts on Thursday evenings (one show a month) for the last two years at Pace, during which time it has featured such jazz notables as Louie Belson, Monte Alexander, Dr. Billy Taylor, Jon Faddis, Clark Terry, Bucky Pizzarelli, Red Rodney and Bobby DeFranco.

Producer Jack Kleinsinger manages to assemble this great talent each month, stage special "Tribute" concerts for many artists (the recent show for Al Grey was quite poignant) and keep his sold out audience coming back for more.

Last week's show with Steve Allen was a typical production, featuring some of our town's finest musicians. Tony Monte led the band in what was a sort of reunion of musical personalities. Monte was the music director at WNEW radio for years and produced shows that starred Steve Allen, Jonathan Schwartz and Mike Simone. Monte paraded many legendary talents to listeners across the airwaves. Some of them joined him at the "Highlights" closer last week: drummer Bobby Rosengarden, bassist Jay Leonhart and trumpeter Cecil Bridgewater.

Steve Allen overwhelmed the audience (this audience is one of the most receptive in town) with his repertoire of original songs, stories and reminiscences from his old TV shows.

"Highlights in Jazz" concerts run from October through May each year. For further information call 982-3697.
