In his first six years in Congress, Buddy MacKAY has displayed the same hardworking, no-nonsense approach for which he was noted in the Florida Legislature. During twelve years in the Legislature, MacKAY was chosen "most valuable member" seven times.

Widely recognized in Washington for his efforts to reduce the Federal budget deficits, MacKAY has also successfully fought for increased funding for programs for children, research, and space — all while reducing the deficit by better setting spending priorities.

It was that thoughtful, innovative approach to issues which led MacKAY to introduce a bill which now assures a Social Security COLA even if inflation doesn't exceed the 3% rate that had been the threshold — saving the COLA for America's retirees while at the same time reducing the budget deficit with lower administrative costs.
