FOCUS, a joint fundraising event, will give financial support to seven Democratic women candidates. By propelling them to victory in November, we can change the face of the U.S. Senate

Barbara Boxer of California, who has proved herself through long service in the House of Representatives, is known throughout the nation as a tough campaigner and an indomitable leader for women and families, and a stalwart defender of the right to choose.

Carol Moseley Braun stunned political observers and elated Democratic women all across America when she seized the Democratic nomination in Illinois, putting herself in position to become the nation's first African-American woman Senator.

Geraldine Ferraro inspired a generation of women candidates with her historic vice presidential campaign. Now she has undertaken the imposing task of unseating New York's entrenched Republican incumbent, Alphonse D'Amato.

Dianne Feinstein mounted an outstanding campaign for Governor of California in 1990. Now she has mobilized her supporters statewide into a powerful Senate campaign that has won a decisive victory in the primary.

Josie Heath of Colorado was able to launch her unexpected Senate campaign in just three days by calling on a dedicated network of campaign workers under the resounding theme: "No More Politics As Usual!"

Barbara Mikulski has been a courageous standard-bearer in the United States Senate since the voters of Maryland made her the first Democratic woman ever elected to the Senate in her own right.

Lynn Yeakel of Pennsylvania turned her outrage at the Clarence Thomas hearings into a powerful political campaign that won her the Democratic Senate nomination and a chance to defeat a key figure of the hearings, Sen. Arlen Specter.
