Rival Factions Vie to Mold Democratic Agenda

Los Angeles Times

■ Politics: Liberal activists invoke legacy of New Deal and Great Society. A meeting of conservatives is likely to disavow that position.

By ROBERT SHOGAN
TIMES POLITICAL WRITER

Des Moines—"There are some other Democrats who say we ought to be more accommodating to the Republicans," Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin told more than 300 fellow liberal Democrats gathered in this critical presidential battleground Saturday to stake out a claim on the party's future. "We're here to fire a shot across the bow of those Democrats."

New Democratic group calls for home front agenda to match scope of military effort

By Christopher Matthews
EXAMINER WASHINGTON BUREAU CHIEF

CHANTILLY, Va. — For liberal Democrats, the Persian Gulf war is replacing the astronauts' walk on the moon as a metaphor for the failure by Republican presidents to tackle social problems at home.

THE COALITION FOR

STANDING FOR PEOPLE AND PRINCIPLES

The Coalition for Democratic Values (CDV) stands for the principles that produce progress for America and victory for the Democratic Party:

Opportunity
Fairness
Individual Rights
Social Justice

And we stand up for the vast majority of Americans who have made the Democrats the majority party:

The people who work for a living and pay taxes.

The people without friends in high places on Wall Street or in Washington.

The people who play by the rules and fight our country's wars.

We believe Democrats can take the White House, just as we've taken a majority of city halls, state houses, and the U.S. House and Senate — by taking a stand for the people and the principles we've championed at our proudest moments.

This is the fight of the Coalition for Democratic Values. This must be the fight of the Democratic Party.

For over 10 years wealthy special interest groups have called the shots.
Isn't it time someone fought for the rest of us?

TAKING ON THE ISSUES OF THE '90s

CDV is taking the progressive message to the people.

We are holding hearings throughout the country, uniting grassroots movements for social change with elected leaders, and aggressively promoting our message through the mass media.

And we're using these techniques to influence some of the great issues of the 1990's.

Tax Justice: Relieving the burden on moderate-income people and requiring the wealthy and corporations to pay their fair share.

Health Care: Controlling skyrocketing costs and assuring everyone has access to health care.

Campaign Finance Reform: Providing public funding and ending the stranglehold of wealthy special interests.

Military Reform: Building muscle, cutting fat, and investing the savings in America.

Environmental Protection: Guarding our natural resources and conserving energy.

Education: Equipping our young people to thrive in a competitive economy.

Individual Rights: Defending women's rights and civil liberties.
