MUSICAL PLEASURES

Jazz and Gershwin

It seems hard to believe, but tonight marks the ninth anniversary of Jack Kleinsinger's "Highlights in Jazz" series, that traveling show that finally has found a permanent home on the second Thursday of every month at the Loeb Student Center of NYU (566 LaGuardia Place; 598-3757). To celebrate, Kleinsinger has scheduled two concerts by Buddy Rich and his orchestra tonight, at 8 and 10. Drummer Rich's orchestra features Steve Marcus on tenor saxophone and, as is sometimes the custom at this series, there will be at least one surprise guest. Who will it be? Well, if you knew, it wouldn't be a surprise, would it?

Buddy Rich / Two at NYU

Barbara Lee and Brooks Morton have put together what Barbara calls a "two-person revue that we intend—we hope—will go into a theater," and they are giving a production of it tonight at Jan Wattman's restaurant (28 Cornelia St.; 242-9557). It's called "Strawberries" and it's "mostly Gershwin songs," Barbara explains, "all George Gershwin but not quite all Ira." There will be some things from "Porgy and Bess" that aren't heard often. "It doesn't have a story line," she explained. "It's a balance between known and unknown songs, the comic, the serious and the jazzy." Act I will be at 9 p.m., Act II at 11. It's a very tiny place, so reservations are required if you want a table.
