Over the years, Jack Kleinsinger's "Highlights in Jazz" has proved to be one of the more durable concert staples of the genre, offering programs built around different themes and aspects of the jazz art. Tonight at 8 o'clock, in New York University's Loeb Student Center, 566 La Guardia Place, at Fourth Street (988-3757), the session goes vocal with "Voices of Jazz."

The bill will be headed by two of the best-known vocal groups in jazz, Jackie Cain and Roy Kral, and Jon Hendricks & Company. The vocalist Daryl Sherman and the bassist and songwriter Jay Leonhart will also appear on the program, along with a surprise guest, in the tradition of the series.

Miss Cain and Mr. Kral have long brought to their fans their own special mixture of sophisticated supper-club song and jazz. Mr. Hendricks, who for a score of years was a member of the popular Lambert, Hendricks & Ross Trio, in his present group mixes four-part vocal ensemble and solo pieces in jazz styles that range from blues ballads to adaptations of big-band melody.

Admission: $7; students: $5.50.

That shoeless Joe clutching his stand-up musical instrument right over there on the right is Jay Leonhart, who will be performing some of his original songs (from his "Salamander Pie" album) tonight in the monthly "Highlights in Jazz" series at the Loeb Student Center at NYU (566 LaGuardia Place; 398-3757). But the barefoot Leonhart is only one of the performers to be heard in tonight's program, called "Voices of Jazz."

Also on hand will be Jackie and Roy (Cain and Kral), who've been singing show tunes, jazz classics, bossa novas and various other melodies in their own distinctive style for some 35 years now; Jon Hendricks, one-third of the renowned Lambert, Hendricks and Ross Trio of two decades ago who is now leading a four-part vocal ensemble called Jon Hendricks and Company, and Daryl Sherman, a new and very popular vocalist. And, as is customary at this monthly program, there will be a surprise guest. Tickets are $7 ($5.50 for students), and are available at the box office.
Jack - Great that you keep it swingin'! all my love
